

FAMILY

Family is not an important thing. It is everything.

The memories we make with our family is everything.

Families are like branches on a tree. We grow in different directions, yet our roots remain as one.

Being a family means you are part of something very wonderful. It means you will love and be loved for the rest of your life.

