

Morals

- We all are born as empty vessels which moral values can shape.
- Family and moral values are central to everything. What we learn becomes part of who we are.
- Moral education has to be an inherent part of the school education system.
- Human rights is a moral thing.
- If people are good because they fear punishment, and hope for reward, then we are a sorry lot indeed.

